

Business experts wanted Microbusiness program

Ready to share your business knowledge and give back to your community?

Carers Queensland's Be Your Own Boss – Microbusiness Program aims to empower, educate and support people with disability to create or grow their own microbusiness.

We are looking for people with business knowledge to join the program in Ipswich and Gold Coast regions who are able to deliver a one-to-two hour workshop for people with disability who are looking to establish, or who currently run their own microbusiness.

If you have business experience in any of the following areas, this opportunity could be for you:

- Finance
- Workplace health and safety
- Web design
- Photography
- Business planning
- Social media and marketing
- Sales, e-commerce and distribution

What's in it for you?

By being involved in our program, you will be able to upskill yourself in disability awareness and give back to your local community and support people with disability to grow their microbusiness.

You will have opportunities to grow your network and connect with like-minded people with business experience in your local area.

This is a unique opportunity to support people with disability to be recognised and valued for their individual contributions to the business community and to empower them to grow and succeed.
